

October 13, 2025: On the Methods of Agitation and Escalation

I am writing briefly to document the ongoing methods that are being used to agitate, escalate, and cause extremism and / or movement of virtues from normal to instinctive fight or flight within my home:

1. Echos, mirrors, and reactions from sounds and visual stimulus that surround my life at all times;
2. Sign language messages using the signs that I am working with on a daily basis (by both symbols that are within the Mason community, as well as by learning the additional signs that I work with in producing my religious work on a daily / weekly / monthly / yearly basis;
3. Memory games of recall wherein one stimulus is connected with an agitation response, then is regularly recalled to indicate the pattern of stimulus-response-stimulus-response; and
4. Movements by an external team that are predictive of the limited movements that I make in my own life.

These methods combine to form an oppressive bubble over my life that is constantly attempting to engage with my perspective, to encourage aggressive and defensive responses, and to heighten a sense of ongoing threats to my presence that I am unable to ever escape or avoid.

The combined effect is the placement of my life within an inescapable bubble of oppression that is constantly attempting to provoke me to react to their presence, to recognize their oppressive and illegal actions, and to then increase that effect as a call and response.

Marco, Polo, Marco, Polo echos like a dolphin pin-pointing its environment by use of a sonar ping; ping pong balls being hit back and forth between two opponents; or chess / checkers movements of pieces are all plausible metaphors to describe the ongoing 'game' that is being placed over my small world by a force that is obviously large enough to encompass my movements all the way to the mountain regions of southern Spain.

I have attempted to flee from these forces and I was unsuccessful. Now, the ongoing effect is to press deeper and deeper into my life to give me only one path forward which is to fight their efforts to oppress me. At some point, we are expected to be defeated by the overwhelming force that we are experiencing. This defeat is being presented to our home as the 'bowing to' and 'acceptance of' this illegal spying presence into our life as an undeniable ruler of our life, thoughts, and movements.

I am writing to record these facts to the best of my ability while still maintaining a life of my own wherein I remain somewhat productive and moving in the right directions for our own progress. I have chores to do, a life to live, and goals to accomplish.

These external and illegal forces are actively causing me to be distracted from the necessary steps that I need to take by removing any level of privacy that I once had in my world. Consequently, I have already become completely uncomfortable with taking on legal clients as this will directly affect their privacy as well. And, these forces continue to exert greater and greater pressure into my world to disrupt every focused activity of concentration that I attempt in my home.

I must return now to my own life and I will work to document these facts as accurately as I can because these are important indicators of the nature of the oppression that we are all enduring under a criminal administration that is leading the United States government and military.

Donald Trump is a felon that is convicted of financial crimes related to a 'Catch and Kill' scheme to silence a person that held information that he perceived as being damaging to his political reputation.

I am testifying publicly that Donald Trump's campaign, and resulting administration, is evidencing to me very clearly that he is running the United States executive branch in the exact same fashion as a criminal that is holding victims within a 'Catch and Kill' scheme to silence them from reporting facts that he perceives as being harmful to his reputation.
